

EASE

SPEAKER WITHEM PRESIDING

ASSISTANT CLERK:      Mr. President, more new bills.      (Read LBs 770-826 for the first time by title.      See pages 402-12 of the Legislative Journal.)

EASE

SPEAKER WITHEM:      (Recorder not activated immediately) ...and those staff people listening in the office, we've been informed by the Bill Drafter's Office that all of the requests for drafts have been completed.      They have been delivered to senators offices.      If there are still bills that you are looking for introducing them, or trying to make up your mind, or getting cosigners, or whatever would delay the process, I would like to see us at about a quarter after twelve entertain a motion for adjournment.      If that is going to cause anybody problems, let me know the nature of those problems and we will try to deal with those, but by about a quarter after I would like to see us adjourn and so you should have your bills introduced by then.

ASSISTANT CLERK:      (Read LBs 827-865 for the first time by title.      See pages 412-19 of the Legislative Journal.)

SPEAKER WITHEM:      (Microphone not activated immediately) ...profession that Senator Hall has been engaged in in the past will recognize what I am going to be calling for now here, this is the last call.      This is the last call for bill introductions.      If any of you out there have any drafts that are...you want to get in, you need to get them up here pretty quickly because we are getting pretty close to reading in the last of the bills that we have up here.      After that, I will be entertaining the motion for adjournment.

EASE

CLERK:      (Read LBs 866-878 for the first time by title.      See pages 419-21 of the Legislative Journal.)      New constitutional amendments, Mr. President.      (Read brief summary of LBs 42-47.      See pages 421-28 of the Legislative Journal.)      More new bills.      (Read LBs 879-884 for the first time by title.      See pages 428-29 of the Legislative Journal.)